

Use the following information and instructions for opening a Donor-Advised Fund (DAF) investment account:

As the owner of the account, any references within the investment account application/paperwork to the owner should be completed to reflect Renaissance Charitable Foundation's (RCF) information, not that of the donor.

Clearly indicate on the account application each section that requires officer information, and each signature line where the RCF officers must sign or initial. The officers of RCF will sign the investment account application and each will have individual authority to transact business in the account. The officers of RCF are authorized to act independently – only one officer needs to sign the application.
