

Any donor. Any gift. Any charity.

Use the following information and instructions for opening a Donor-Advised Fund (DAF) investment account

As the ONLY owner of the investment account, any references within the investment account application/paperwork to the owner should be completed to reflect Renaissance Charitable Foundation's (RCF) information, not that of the donor. The Financial Advisor of record should also review and sign the Investment Policy Statement and send to RCF with the completed DAF application.

Clearly indicate on the investment account application each section that requires officer information, and each signature line where the RCF officers must sign or initial. The officers of RCF will sign the investment account application and each will have individual authority to transact business in the investment account. Once the paperwork has been completed, it can be sent directly to RCF officers via e-signature (preferred) OR directly to the RCF team at RCF@reninc.com. If using e-signature, please send directly to Greg Baker (gregbaker@rcgf.org) and Alyssa Rysdyk (alysarysdyk@rcgf.org) for completion. Please note, only two officers are required to sign. The officers of RCF are authorized to act independently – only one officer needs to sign the application.
